

"I used Harmony Security products on several D.C. schools that turned out very nicely. They were historical buildings, and frequently a security screen can detract from the aesthetic profile of an historic building. But the Harmony screens turned out nicely and didn't detract from aesthetics of the building, due to Harmony's unobtrusive, thin sightlines. The folks at Harmony are pleasant people to work with, always on time, always helpful, customer service/QC is important to them, as it is very important to us. We have built a $20m annual window business, and we've grown there because of customer relationships that survive from year to year. We like suppliers with the same approach to customer service as we do. We recommend Harmony Security Products to others all the time."
